West Memphis Group Plans Co-op Store

By MIKE BOWIE

West Memphis Evening Times

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — A group of 120 persons in Crittenden County have banded together to form a co-operative grocery designed primarily for the benefit of the poverty level persons in the county.

The co-op store is located south of Arkansas 50 and northeast of Earle, in an area known as Abson-Wynn. It is housed in a wooden building behind the home of the president of the co-op, Shedric Hemphill.

"We got started in January by each of 100 persons giving $1 to begin the co-op. Since then, we have received an $830 loan from the Office of Economic Opportunity for the grocery," Hemphill said.

Stock in the one-room store consists of primarily staple foods that may be purchased with food coupons. The co-op recently purchased a meat box and meat scales and hopes to start handling perishable goods.

"Most of the business we have in the store is food stamp business. Of course, some of the people make small purchases with cash," Hemphill said.

The co-op is a nonprofit establishment for those who operate the grocery. Time is used for working in the store or in connection with some type of business of the store is donated by members of the co-op.

Hemphill said the loan from the OEO must also be repaid.

"All the rest for the co-op was donated. The heater was donated, the work on the building was donated, almost everything was donated. We don't have much to pay for," he said.

"We are not able to sell the groceries for our cost because we have some expenses in operating the store, such as electricity and gas," Hemphill said.

"However, we do sell the groceries for less than what is suggested retail. Some items may only be one cent less than retail, but it is still less," he said.

Fridays and Saturdays are the big days at the small grocery, although there is business throughout the week.

"On Fridays and Saturdays, this store gets pretty crowded. Since so many people get at the first of the month, that is a busy time, too," Hemphill said.

February was the first full month the store has been in operation and Hemphill said the store grossed just over $2,000.

"We buy our groceries from a grocery company in Memphis and that has been one problem. Since we have such a small space, we have to get the groceries at least once and sometimes two times a week," Hemphill said.

He said the ordering is done by an "ordering committee" made up of members of the co-op. The merchandise is brought back to the store, by a "packing committee," while still another committee checks the order, prices and merchandise, and puts the stock away.

Help in setting up the co-op was furnished to some extent by Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA) from both Crittenden County and Mississippi County.

"We have VISTAs living in the community and a VISTA came down from Mississippi County to help us set up our books. Now that it is set up members are doing most of the work," Hemphill said.

The goal for membership in the co-op is 400 and each member actually represents an entire family, according to Hemphill.

"When we first set this up, we planned on having about 400 members. Most of the members now are from around this area, but some come from other parts of the county," he said.

"We started this co-op because we felt we could help some people and I believe we have," Hemphill said.

Fulbright Regrets Nixon Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said Thursday he regretted President Nixon's decision not to nominate a Southerner to the U.S. Supreme Court.

"I hope the president will reconsider and will seek from the southern region of the United States a nominee to the Supreme Court that the people of the South and the nation can be proud of and that the Senate can approve overwhelmingly," Fulbright said.

The Senate Wednesday rejected by a 51-45 vote Nixon's nomination of G. Harrold Carswell of Florida. The Senate had previously rejected his nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. of South Carolina by a 55-45 vote.

Nixon said Thursday, "I have reluctantly concluded that it is not possible to get confirmation for a judge on the Supreme Court of any man who believes in the strict construction of the Constitution as I do, if he happens to come from the South."

"I favored, and still hope for, the appointment of a judge who is a strict constitutional constructionist who will exercise judicial restraint," Fulbright said. "I think it is an affront to the many eminently qualified southern jurists that the president has ruled them out of consideration."

Fulbright said there are men in Arkansas who are "well qualified and who I feel could win the support of the Senate."

"I said when I voted for Judge Haynsworth that I thought it was a good nomination," Fulbright said. "I also applauded the president's reported desire to appoint a Southerner because I belived the court should have regional balance."

Fulbright voted against the Carswell nomination.

Flag Is Subject of Local DAR Meeting

MRS. J.J. BATTLE

Dr. G. Everett Slavens, Ouachita Baptist University history professor, spoke on "The Flag of the United States of America" at the luncheon meeting of the John Cain Chapter, DAR, Wednesday, April 8 at the Town and Country. First, he made complimentary comments on the worthwhile service of the DAR organization, including work with immigrants. Then, he gave his message.

"The meaning of the American flag varies with different people and their feelings. However, all should have a respect for it because it is a symbol throughout the world of the principles for which we stand. We should know what we stand for and then act on it," he said.

Mrs. Howard Waddle, vice-regent, introduced Dr. Slavens.

In a special ceremony Mrs. J.J. Battle was honored by the Chapter she has served so well as chaplain. After many years in that office, Mrs. Battle is retiring from active participation in the ceremonies, and the Chapter presented her a gift in appreciation for her good work and faithful service.

During a business meeting, state conference reports were given by Mrs. John Keck, Mrs. Paul Klipsch, Mrs. Wilbur Jones, Mrs. Arthur Wimmell and Mrs. Robert Vandivere.

In addition to the 20 members and the guest speaker, others attending the luncheon meeting were Mrs. John Vesey, Mrs. H. C. Whitworth, Mrs. Ralph Carrington, Mrs. Mattie Ball of Washington and Mrs. Catherine Fuller of Lewisville. Hostesses were Mrs. R.M. LaGrone, Jr., Mrs. Lloyd Spencer and Mrs. Paul Klipsch.

Police May Not Receive SS Benefits

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Brinkley city policemen have been making Social Security payments for years, but they discovered recently that they might not receive any of the benefits.

Officials are researching the law and city and state documents for a loophole that would qualify the policemen for the benefits for which they have been paying or permit them to get their money back.

If all fails, they may have to settle for refunding of only payments for the last four years, apparently all that would be allowed under the statute of limitations.

Brinkley city officials inquired about the status of the policemen's benefits about 10 days ago after their attention was captured by a sentence in a booklet explaining the Social Security act.

That sentence said that if police pension plans were organized before the Social Security act became effective in Arkansas in 1951, the policemen were excluded from the Social Security program, according to Fred Henne, director of the state Employes Retirement System.

George Bethell, Brinkley police chief, believes the Brinkley pension plan was in effect as early as 1946, when he joined the force.

Henne said there may be other cities facing the same predicament as Brinkley. He said his office would be trying to determine this in the process of investigating Brinkley's problem.

Henne said the investigation might uncover a technicality that would save the payments paid by Brinkley policemen.

"I'm worrying now how many other city police departments are not eligible either," said Brinkley City Manager John Holliday. "And, if they aren't eligible, then how do we get eligible."

Mrs. Irene East, administrative assistant for Social Security for the public employes division of the state retirement office, said the state was governed by federal regulations, but that "we have to work it out."

"Some of these men are near retirement age and I can see how it would upset them," Mrs. East said.

cool off over the weekend and then will get together with everybody and decide what he and the other members are going to do."

Douglas, 71, and an associate justice for 31 years, was heavily criticized last year for his role as president of the Albert Parvin Foundation, which received considerable income from Las Vegas gambling enterprises and originally was funded by a hotel-casino sale set up by gangster Meyer Lansky.

Douglas resigned from the foundation last May and has denied knowledge of any Lansky role in financing the organization.

More recently, Douglas was criticized for his newly published book, "Points of Rebellion," in which he wrote that "growing rightist tendencies" in America threaten to make man an automaton.

Several Republicans who attended the Thursday meeting told Ford that if he did not act against Douglas by next week they would do so themselves.

"Ford is not sure how much time he'll have any more," the source said. "The only sure thing is that if something is going to be done, it will have to be done by the House.

"There are only three ways to remove a Supreme Court justice. The first involves the Almighty, over whom the House has no control. The second would be action by Justice Douglas himself. The House has no control there, either.

"The third way is through the House of Representatives. There is no way the House can escape that obligation. There's no place else that action could go."

The source estimated at least 100 co-sponsors could easily be mustered for an impeachment move.

The Constitution provides Supreme Court justices serve during good behavior.

Moore Seeks Nomination

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP) — Rudy Moore Jr., 26, of Springdale, said Thursday he will seek the Democratic nomination for state representative in District 7.

Charles Davis of Springdale, who currently holds the position, has said he will not seek re-election.

ence.

Kirk aides denied the charge.

The governor said he took over the school system to avoid what he calls illegal forced busing of students to achieve integration. Kirk said the issue is between two sovereignties and should be settled in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Kirk said he would not appear in Tampa today for a contempt hearing in the court of U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Krentzman, author of the integration order, but would be represented by an attorney.

Briggs declined to say what his next move would be—"I'm like a coach, I don't really expect to talk about the game plan before the game"—but said he had talked with U.S. Justice Department officials who had approved his undisclosed plan of action.

A superior force of deputy sheriffs and state troopers prevented three deputy marshals and an assistant U.S. attorney from taking actual custody of the Kirk aides and six lawmen in a confrontation at the school board office Thursday. All nine were accused of obstructing justice.

Kirk has been ordered by Judge Kretzman to relinquish control of the school system to Supt. Jack Davidson and the county school board.

Kirk took control to head off implementation of the court-ordered desegregation plan on Monday, objecting particularly to the requirement that 2,600 pupils be bused to classes outside their neighborhoods to achieve racial balance.

Kirk said repeatedly at his news conference that the issue was not between the federal district court and him but between the sovereign state of Florida and the United States.

The question could only be settled by the U.S. Supreme Court, Kirk declared.

Vietnamese Civilians Are Killed

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS

PRASAUT, Cambodia (AP) — At least 73 Vietnamese men, women and children held behind barbed wire in this town were killed by automatic weapons fire early today.

They were cut down about the same time a Viet Cong force attacked Prasaut, 20 miles from South Vietnam, from all sides for six hours with mortars, B40 rockets and automatic rifles.

The exact circumstances surrounding the slaughter of the Vietnamese held under guard as security risks were not clear. Cambodian troops in position around the detention camp were hesitant to discuss it.

One lieutenant said the Vietnamese, rounded up Wednesday, were killed in a crossfire between attacking Viet Cong and Cambodian troops.

Two Viet Cong bodies were still lying in the dry paddy field only 100 yards from the detention camp which is on the exposed eastern edge of Prasaut. A nearby thatch house lay in smouldering ruins and troops said Viet Cong grenades did it.

The two buildings inside the 80 by 100 foot enclosure where the Vietnamese are kept showed no signs of being shot up in a crossfire that would have to be prolonged to cause the kind of carnage still visible.

One of the buildings had a concrete base which could have provided cover. In addition there were two deep drainage ditches on two sides where the 150 or more Vietnamese could have hidden.

But by the pools of blood in the middle of the compound, it appeared most of them died there.

Hours after the shooting, there were two persons with Red Cross armbands attempting to give first aid to the 35 or more badly wounded who lay moaning and twisting in pain.

A major with the troops, when asked how the Vietnamese had been killed, replied: "They are all Viet Cong." When asked for details he begged off by saying he had just arrived in Prasaut.

In the grassy compound, heavy with the smell of death and the sound of women and children sobbing, an old Vietnamese spoke in Cambodian. He managed only a few words of French but said "pas Viet Cong, pas Viet Cong"—not Viet Cong—as he looked around him.

On two sides of the little area lay the bodies, lined up near the loose three-strand barbed wire fence. Straw mats and light blankets, part of the few possessions the Vietnamese brought when removed from their homes in Prasaut, covered the bodies. At least eight were children under 10. A precise count of the dead was difficult because some bodies were still entwined under the mats.

Being a congenital cornercutter, I reasoned that if we were to leave the train at Trenton, N.J.—with no scheduled stop at New Brunswick—it would beat traveling all the way to Gotham and then doubling back to home territory.

We did. Time elapsed since enplaning at Seattle: about 14 hours, including three lost to the time zones.

There was a long wait at the Trenton bus station, a bumpy ride over snow-covered roads to Princeton, N.J., and another half-hour wait in freezing temperatures on a dimly lit street corner for the last bus to New Brunswick.

Pressing on, we finally arrived at our destination at about 1 a.m.—the exact times were now beginning to slip away from me—but the longest night was not yet over.

For another half-hour I tried in vain to flag a cab, any old cab. Whence the taxi we finally snared came I know nought, but it was shading toward 2 a.m. when we finally reached home.

The flight across country—from Seattle to a cloudy spot over Philadelphia—had taken 4 hours and 38 minutes. We had spent approximately 9½ more hours, including the three-hour time loss, trying to reach our front door.

Cutting the cold with a dollop of Kentucky's best, I had to reflect on that lonely street corner in windy Princeton.

One bus—carrying the sign "Bus Following"—had passed us as we stood there shivering and shuffling in the snow.

With my luck that Easter night, the last bus should have sped right on by, with a sign "Bus Ahead."

Truckers Are Continuing to Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Continuing strikes by truckers have resulted in a Chicago lockout, layoffs in several Midwestern cities and brought scattered instances of violence.

In other fields there was a teachers' strike in Minneapolis and threats of similar walkouts in three other cities, and a continuing "sick out" by some air traffic controllers.

Five Chicago trucking associations ordered 32,000 drivers locked out today after a sixth carriers' group signed a contract providing pay hikes 50 per cent higher than a tentative national settlement.

Other truckers dissatisfied with the national agreement struck several major Midwestern industrial centers. These combined with other continuing wildcat strikes to force layoffs of 32,000 workers in Cleveland, Detroit and St. Louis.

Violence connected with the strikes broke out in scattered sections of the nation.

In Washington, D. C., Teamsters Union and trucking industry officials said they were standing by the tentative contract they worked out. It provides a $1.10 an hour wage increase over three years.

In the newest labor development, 3,400 striking Minneapolis school teachers crippled the city's 99-school system and teachers prepared to strike in Los Angeles, Muskogee, Okla., and Butte, Mont.

The Minneapolis teachers struck in defiance of state law and a court order. They demanded increased pay and smaller classes.

Issues in the other prospective teacher strikes ranged from salary demands to desegregation policies.

The 17-day-old air traffic controllers strike has led to layoffs of 1,700 employes of Trans World and United airlines.

Southern judges rejected by the Senate; G. Harrold Carswell and Clement F. Haynsworth.

"I find it incredible that the President would make such a statement," chimed in Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., another leader against the Nixon nominees.

But Nixon's statement brought nods of approval from senators who stood behind Carswell and Haynsworth.

"In view of the present makeup of the Senate, it would be very difficult to confirm any judicial conservative nominee from the South," said Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb.

No matter who Nixon nominated from the South, "the powerful blacks and labor unions" would rise up against him, Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., said.

Nixon met briefly with newsmen Thursday, a day after the Senate voted 51 to 45 to reject his nomination of Carswell, a 50-year-old federal appeals judge from Tallahassee, Fla. He told them "My next nominee will be from outside the South and he will fulfill the criteria of strict constructionist with judicial experience either from a federal bench or on a state appeals court," he said.

Bayh said later the President was telling the South his two previous nominees were picked solely because they were from that region. That means, Bayh said, the President is trying "to feather the political nest of Richard Nixon" rather than fill a high court vacancy created by Abe Fortas' resignation last May.

Two Southern senators who voted against Carswell after supporting Haynsworth also disagreed with Nixon.

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The annual television ratings race is a contest which each year reaches the significance and suspense of a soap opera.

Further, it is as intricate and as complex as one of those long-running stories, with all the subplots, the ploys, the intrigues, and all the entrances and exits.

It has for years been played to the hilt, with the networks milking publicity from every favorable turn. It is of no small importance that a statistician with fast pencil can make anything short of an unmitigated disaster look like a triumph.

Last year's ratings race ended in a bitter feud between NBC and CBS. NBC said it was a tie. CBS said it had won for the 14th straight year. Lost in the crossfire was the fact that the difference was within the margin of error.

The battle this year appeared headed for another showdown. But suddenly, this week, NBC decided to de-escalate.

As expected, NBC declared the season over as of March 22. Unexpectedly, it issued only its own season Nielsen ratings. The figure was 20.2. It declined to report the ratings for ABC and CBS.

"I think what we're doing is running our own race," said Paul Klein, NBC's affable vice president for research. "We're just not holding the stop latch on the other guys. They don't like us keeping their running time and we don't like them keeping ours."

Is it simply one more twist in the plot? Probably, but even so the contest goes on. Klein said, "We're still in the ratings race for advertising. That's a fact of life."

The March 22 ending is something new, announced a few months ago. NBC said it premieres its shows ahead of ABC and CBS and goes into reruns earlier. Traditionally, the season has ended at the beginning of daylight saving time.

NBC's early premieres got it off to a fast start this year, while CBS, normally a slow starter, has been even slower than ever catching up. It was not until the new year when Michael H. Dann, CBS programming vice president and its chief protagonist in the ratings race, hatched "Operation 100" that CBS began to close the gap.

Kennedy Case Report Coming on Wednesday

BOSTON (AP) — Public release of the secret transcript of the testimony and report by Judge James A. Boyle on the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne is scheduled next Wednesday at Suffolk County Courthouse.

Judge Wilfred J. Paquet, whose Superior Court session has supervision of the papers, directed Wednesday that a state Supreme Court order impounding the documents be lifted at that time.

Paquet acted after the Supreme Court rejected a claim by Sidney R. Lipman, a professional court reporter whose stenographic firm took notes and transcribed the testimony in the January inquest, that he had a proprietary right to sell copies.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

MOTHER OF BOY WORRIES, TOO

Dear Helen: Our son has been going steady with a girl for almost a year now. She is his first female interest, and I wish he might have found a less experienced one.

He brought home a box of notes she had been saving, evidently because she didn't want them where her mother might find them. I came across these letters while cleaning out the garage and couldn't resist reading one. Then I read them all—for they revealed she had had relations with three other boys when she was 13 and 14 years old. She's 15 now.

The more I read the madder I got. So I took them to her mother, who didn't seem to concerned. She said she'd rather her daughter dated our Bill than any other boy.

Next, I found out that she and Bill were using a friend's house-trailer. He didn't deny the affair, but was upset when we took away his car privileges. They both promised they would stop, but Bill got a note from her yesterday, and I fished it out of his wastepaper basket today. In it, she wanted to know if she was "too demanding." So I know they're still involved. His homework suffers because she calls him constantly.

He'll be starting college in the fall. We don't want him to lose out. We also realize we can't stop his seeing the girl if he wants to. What can we do?—WORRIED MOTHER

Dear Mother: When a girl starts calling a boy constantly and becomes "too demanding," his parents can soon stop worrying. But the girl's folks had better start worrying before she ends up pregnant with nobody anxious to marry her or share the blame.—H.

Dear Helen: I don't understand smokers. You'd think the warnings they get on all sides would have some effect, but not with my husband.

My pleas for his own life and health do no good. He's told me a dozen times he's "thinking of quitting" but he never takes the initial step. I realize breaking a habit is hard, but I don't understand why intelligent people (my husband is a Ph.D. candidate in science) refuse to respect these warnings.

I have resigned myself to the fact that he will probably die earlier than he should, especially since there is a history of lung disease in his family. My complaint now is the plight of the non-smoker; Me

I have asthma. It's impossible for me to breathe when there is too much smoke in the room. In our two years of marriage, my husband still hasn't realized what he is doing to me. He even insists on smoking in bed while he reads—while I wheeze for breath.

He's not a sadist. In all other respects he's a kind, loving and considerate man. Yet he has let cigarettes rule his life.

If smoking damages the lungs of smokers, it must certainly pollute the air and hurt innocent bystanders. My one message to these smokers: If you insist on continuing a habit that will surely cut years off, will surely cut years off your life, make sure it is just suicide, not homicide. Don't kill your loved ones just because you can't lick a nasty habit.—SMOKERS FUTURE WIDOW

PERSONAL TO "HUSBAND OF A SAVER": It's been said that junk is something you keep for ten years and then throw away two days before you need it. Your wife could have worse habits—like buying worthless "antiques" instead of saving them.—H.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

BETHEL TO HEAR CHILDREN-YOUTH

The Children and youth department of the Bethel A.M.E. Church at 418 South Laurel Street will be in full charge of Worship Rituals in the Sunday morning Services.

The children's choir under the direction of Mrs. R.L. Davis and Mrs. Ozella Block will sing two special hymns and provide altar services with Shasma Hicks and Reginald Muldrew in Orthodox Eucharistic uniforms.

The youth choir will do among other numbers, "The Heavens Resound," a scriptual Anthem by Ludwig Van Beethoven. Participants in formal rituals include: Misses Carolyn Williams, Lou Kathryn Block, Shirley Stewart, Peggy Williams and Mrs. Mary Burton; Larry Muldrew, Rogers Hicks, Jr., and Darrel Muldrew.

The Lay-Youth-Sermon will be delivered by Arthur Wiliams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Williams. Mr. Williams is a youth steward and co-ordinator of Bethel Church, a senior at Hope High School and a member of the youth Religious Educational Guild of Hempstead County. He will speak on the subject, "Priorities and values in Youth Development."

In consideration of the progressively high crime rate among the youth and the unfortunate exposure of today's youth to the atrocities in thought and deeds in a floundering society, a real challenge, indeed goes to the center purpose of the Christian Church. In Religious Education, Evangelism, and Christian Stewardship, a curriculum must be soundly improvised and sensitively formulated with exacting relevance to youth-world relationships, if in their generation they are to be heirs of a Godly idealism which supplants social curruption and vice said the pastor of Bethel, Dr. W.G. Wynn, who extends to the public a cordial invitation to this service.

The Ozan District Sunday School, B.T.U., and Usher Board will hold its Board Meeting at the Union Baptist Church, Fulton, April 11, 1970 at 10:00 a.m. youth Hour, 6:00 p.m. All young people are invited to attend. Any young persons who wishes to may present a talent number. Rev. F.L. French, President; Mrs. Australia Hendrix, Secretary; Rev. H.W. Ervin, Host Pastor.

TAKE TIME TO BE holy TALK OFTEN WITH YOUR GOD

HAVE FAITH IN GOD

of course it is, but it brings with it a staggering challenge.. the individual responsibility of helping save civilization. The terrible "dark days" following the fall of the Roman Empire would be termed "good days" compared to the period of destruction that would follow the loosing of our hydrogen weapons. We must face it. In a manner we must be our own saviour. Then let us kids not quibble.

We must cheerfully accept the task. If we keep our eyes fixed on God and our ears tuned-in to His direction center, we can be the deterring force He needs to save the world from destruction. For He said, "Him that lacketh wisdom, let him ask of God." The varied programs of the church offer opportunity to gain this wisdom and understanding of God and His plan of salvation for the world. You have a part to play. Get inside His field of service . . . attend church regularly. For, "The wise in heart will receive Commandments."

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Pour Your Contributions Of Wealth and Service Into The Program Of Your Church. Here They Will Help Create Lasting Benefits For All Mankind.

Opening lead—♦ K

Exuberant Ed was having a field day at the club. Not only had he been holding good cards but finesses had worked and suits had broken beautifully for him.

Thus his jump to six hearts was almost an automatic bid. We say almost, because he did consider going all the way to seven before settling for six.

West opened the king of diamonds and Ed's exuberance vanished for some time. He studied and studied the hand. Finally the exuberance returned. He reached over to dummy and pulled out the deuce of diamonds. Then he faced his hand on the table and explained to one and all that anyone else would have played dummy's ace of diamonds and wound up going down one or two tricks at the slam contract but he was either going to make the hand or be down three, depending on which defender held the club ace.

He continued, "My Analysis of the lead and Review of the bidding show that West has a spade-diamond two-suiter. My Count of winners shows that I either need some miracle of stupidity to bring home the spade suit or I must find a way to get some club tricks. Old West is far too good a player to chuck his spades away, so the answer to 'How can I make this hand?' must be with the club suit."

"Shut up and play," growled West, who had been losing all day.

Ed complied. He ruffed the diamond, drew trumps, cashed his ace and king of spades just in case East held two of that suit. Then he led his four of clubs and asked, "How about it?"

"You win and I quit," was West's answer.

A—Pass. We don't like to hang one trick short of game but we are probably out of our depth already. A game contract might be doubled.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three spades your partner has bid two no-trump over your two spades. What do you do now?

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Psoriasis Controllable But Is Not Curable

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—My son has psoriasis. What causes it? Can it be cured?

A—The exact cause is unknown but a hereditary factor may be present and a high blood cholesterol level predisposes to this disease. Nervous tension may also be a factor but this may be a result rather than the cause.

The disease is chronic and cannot be cured but it can often be controlled. A mild tar ointment, followed by direct exposure to the sun's rays or a sunlamp, is usually helpful. A new highly refined tar ointment that also contains allantoin (Alphosyl Gel) is colorless and is preferred by many.

Skin creams that contain drugs of the cortisone group help many victims if, after applying the cream, they cover the area with a plastic wrapping (Saran Wrap or Handi Wrap). If a vitamin A deficiency exists, taking this vitamin should help but, in the absence of such a deficiency, it should not be taken.

A bland ointment incorporating vitamin A for local application can be taken by anyone and has a beneficial effect as long as its use is continued. A new treatment has been reported from England. After the lesions have been cleared up with a coal tar product, the victim, two nights a week, applies a paste containing small amounts of salicylic acid and anthralin, at bedtime, to the skin areas where the lesions used to be. This ointment must not be used near the eyes. A paste containing ammoniated mercury and salicylic acid has also helped many victims.

Q—Are fungus and psoriasis the same?

A — No, but salicylic acid ointments are used in the treatment of both. Some authorities have believed that a fungus was the cause of psoriasis but this has never been proved and experimental attempts to transmit the disease from one person to another have failed.

Q—How effective is methotrexate in the control of psoriasis?

A—This powerful drug is used only in the severest cases with lesions covering the whole body. The drug may cause mouth ulcers, nausea and cirrhosis of the liver, unless used under careful medical supervision.

Q—Would drinking alcohol aggravate psoriasis? Is it ever fatal?

A—No, to both questions.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Joan of Arc, a French shepherdess, led an army that raised the English siege of Orleans. In 1430, she was charged with sorcery and heresy for her "sinful pride" that led her to believe that she was responsible only to God and not to the church. The World Almanac recalls. After months of persecution, she signed a statement of guilt and was later burned alive, at the age of 19.

Cincinnati Hurling Is Suprising

The temptation was to run a benefit—preferably one that offered arms to the pitching poor—when Sparky Anderson accepted the manager's job in Cincinnati.

Pitching was the one thing the Reds didn't have. The fact that throwing strikes is supposed to be 75 per cent of the game might be the reason that Cincinnati has not won a pennant since 1961.

All of this, of course, seems like pure fiction to Anderson who, for the first week of the season, has had all the pitching he could use.

Rookie Wayne Simpson gave the Reds their fourth straight strong hurling job Thursday, shutting out Los Angeles 3-0 on a two-hitter in his major league debut. That came on the heels of a two-hitter by Gary Nolan, a three-hitter by Jim Merritt and a combined seven-hitter by Jim McGlothlin and Clay Carroll.

Elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis thumped Montreal 7-3, Philadelphia tripped Chicago 5-3, San Francisco dropped Houston 7-4, Pittsburgh edged New York -1, and Atlanta defeated San Diego 6-1.

In the American League, Baltimore whacked Cleveland 13-1, New York topped Boston -3, Minnesota tripped Chicago 6-4 and Kansas City downed Oakland 3-1 in the only games scheduled.

The Cincinnati pitching has been so good in the first four games that the Reds' workhorse reliever, Wayne Granger, who pitched in a record 90 games last year, hasn't stirred from the bullpen yet. And Jim Maloney, ace of the staff, also hasn't thrown a ball in anger yet.

Simpson, a 21-year-old rookie, retired the first 16 batters he faced and was locked in a scoreless duel with Don Sutton when Johnny Bench cracked a seventh inning homer. Then Dave Concepcion, another rookie, doubled two more runs across in the ninth.

Joe Torre drilled his first homer and added a pair of singles, driving in three runs as the Cards won their second straight over Montreal.

Joe Hague also homered for the Cards and Mike Torrez, with ninth-inning help from Tom Hilgendorf, got the victory.

Deron Johnson clubbed a three-run homer against reliever Phil Regan in the seventh inning as the Phillies whipped Chicago for the second straight time. Johnson's shot wiped out a 3-2 Cubs' lead built against Phillie starter Rick Wise.

Jim Hickman homered for Chicago.

Hot-hitting Steve Whitaker drilled a two-run single as San Francisco rallied for five runs in the eighth inning to knock off Houston.

Whitaker, who had pinch hit successfully in the Giants' first two games, shared the hero's role with catcher Dick Dietz who drove in three runs with a single and a homer.

Two Mets' errors on the same play gave the Pirates a pair of unearned runs as Pittsburgh trimmed New York and Dock Ellis outdueled Jerry Koosman.

Two walks and Roberto Clemente's infield single started Koosman's downfall in the first inning. Joe Foy threw wild on Clemente's hit, allowing one run to score and the other came in when catcher Jerry Grote dropped the relay at the plate.

Ellis struck out 13, scattering five Mets' hits.

Hank Aaron tagged his 555th career homer and boosted his total hits to 2,961 as the Braves knocked off San Diego in Jim Nash's National League debut.

Aaron had a two-run homer in the first inning and then started a three-run rally in the fourth with a double, his 2,961st hit, tying him with Sam Crawford for 10th place on the alltime list.

Razorbacks Hit With Injuries

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The effects of Wednesday's scrimmage and a growing injury list hampered the Arkansas Razorback football team during Thursday's practice session.

"It was a slow day," said coach Frank Broyles. "After the scrimmage we were just trying to do some teaching. That's all we felt like doing."

The Razorbacks will not practice today, but a scrimmage is scheduled for Saturday.

Time Running Out for the N.Y. Rangers

The Boston Line is running on time . . . and time is running out on the New York Rangers.

Fred Stanfield, John Bucyk and John Mckenzie, Boston's crackerjack linemates, helped the Bruins bean New York 5-3 Thursday night for a commanding 2-0 lead in their best-of-7 National Hockey League semifinal playoffs.

The East Division game was one of four semifinals Thursday night. Pittsburgh trimmed Oakland 3-1 and St. Louis spilled Minnesota 2-1 in West Division play and Chicago turned back Detroit 4-2 in the East to take 2-0 leads in their respective series.

The Rangers had taken a 2-1 lead in the first period and goals by McKenzie and Bucyk in the second stanza triggered Boston to a 3-2 lead.

Bucyk's go-ahead goal, hammered in from an almost impossible angle on the left of the New York net, was scored with 46 seconds left in the second period. Stanfield had assists on Bucyk's and McKenzie's goals.

Ken Hodge and Eddie Westfall, who scored Boston's first two goals, nailed it down with one apiece in the final period.

Coach Red Kelly of Pittsburgh was elated with the Penguins' triumph—"This was a big game for us"—but Fred Glover of Oakland was obviously disatisfied with his team's play.

"The first period is all they played," he said, his voice tinged with disappointment.

Glover's goalie, Gary Smith, received two tripping penalties during the bruising contest.

Smith wandered far from the Penguin nets at times and was called for tripping Pittsburgh players with his stick. The 6-foot-4, 215-pound goalie appeared incensed after a minor brawl at center ice.

Two second period goals 34 seconds apart by Nick Harbaruk and Wally Boyer gave the Penguins all the goals they needed.

First period goals by Gary Sabourin and Phil Goyette enabled St. Louis to withstand a third period tally by Minnesota's Bob Barlow.

Pit Martin's go-ahead goal with less than five minutes left and Dennis Hull's clinching shot with a little more than a minute remaining propelled Chicago over Detroit.

The Black Hawks had a 2-1 and until 9:42 of the final period when Bruce MacGregor's goal pulled Detroit into a 2-2 tie.

But six minutes later, MacGregor drew a tripping penalty and Martin broke the tie with a power play goal at the 15:20 mark, Hull socked it to the goal at 18:42 for the killing blow.

Oakland's Heavy Hitters Mowed Down

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Wports Writer

Charley Metro and John McNamara are the two most surprised managers in the American League.

Well, anyway, Metro is surprised. McNamara is more like bewildered.

"You're always surprised when your pitching stops a club like that, but we know our pitching has to be our strength," Metro said Thursday night after his Kansas City Royals stopped the Oakland A's 3-1 and set a club record of 21 consecutive scoreless innings.

"Is their pitching that good," wondered Oakland's McNamara, "or have we overestimated our hitters? Only time will tell, but we think we've got good hitters."

They weren't in evidence as Kansas City took two of three games from the A's, including Wednesday night's four-hit shutout by Dick Drago.

Slugging Reggie Jackson was held to one single and fanned four times in 10 at-bats. Sal Bando was three for 12, Felipe Alou three for 14 and Don Mincher two for eight. That figures out to .205, so obviously the meat of the Oakland order was gravy for the KC twirlers.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore crushed Cleveland 13-1, Minnesota downed the Chicago White Sox 6-4 and the New York Yankees edged Boston 4-3. California, Detroit, Milwaukee and Washington were idle.

In the National League, it was Cincinnati 1, Los Angeles 0; Atlanta 6, San Diego 1; Pittsburgh 2, New York Mets 1; San Francisco 7, Houston 4; Philadelphia 5, Chicago Cubs 3 and St. Louis 7, Montreal 3.

Kansas City's Bill Butler and Dave Morehead combined to stop Oakland on five hits. The A's finally scored with two out in the ninth.

The Royals touched Chuck Dobson for two runs in the first on Pat Kelly's bunt single, Ed Kirkpatrick's double and a wild pitch. Jim Campanis homered in the fifth.

"We think we've got some of the finest young arms in baseball," said Metro. "We just hope we can give them a laugher here and there to keep things from being so tense for them."

And, if it's any consolation for McNamara, Metro said he rates the A's the third best hitting team in the American League—behind Boston and Baltimore.

With the season only four days old, the standings are beginning to resemble the 1969 finish with Baltimore on top in the Eastern Division and Minnesota sharing the Western lead with California. The Orioles defeated the Twins in last year's pennant playoff series.

Don Buford drove in five runs with two homers and Boog Powell and Dave Johnson also connected as the Orioles unloaded 13 hits while Tom Phoebus stopped Cleveland on two—Vada Pinson's fourth-inning single and ninth-inning home run.

Before the unbeaten Orioles get too cocky, vice president Harry Dalton reminded manager Earl Weaver that the 1967 defending AL champs also won three straight and then finished sixth.

Harmon Killebrew, the 1969 home run champ, blasted his first of 1970 to launch the Twins past the White Sox. Killebrew connected in the first inning after Rod Carew's double and Tony Oliva hit a solo shot in the ninth.

Roy White and Bobby Murcer, the Yankees' two poorest spring training hitters, found the home run range as the Yanks split their series with the Red Sox.

White homered in the first and Murcer's three-run off Ray Culp in the sixth wiped out a 3-1 Boston lead. Jack Aker, unscored on all spring, bailed starter and winner Fritz Peterson out of a seventh-inning jam and hurled three rounds of one-hit ball.

Arkansas' Sikes 2nd in Masters

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Noted also-ran Tommy Aaron jumped out of the gate a leader in the Masters' first round with Gene Littler and Bert Yancey hot on his trail, but famed charger Arnold Palmer died by his own sword.

"I shot dead for each hole—like I always have—and was penalized for it," fumed Palmer. "It's not in my blood to hit shots soft and hope they happen to trickle up near the hole."

Aaron tamed Augusta National's diamond-hard greens with a four-under-par 68 and his closest pursuers were one shot off the pace. Grouped at 70 were Dan and R. H. Sikes along with Chi Chi Rodriguez, Charlie Coody and muscular Bob Lunn.

Jack Nicklaus, a three-time winner, stayed close with a 71 along with 1969's leading money winner. Frank Beard. South Africa Gary Player got off slowly with a 74.

"Good-looking shots turned into nothing all day," said four-time champion Palmer. "The ball skidded across the greens and I found myself looking back at the hole from behind the green."

The rye grass that sprouts in many of Augusta National's rolling fairways failed to trickle Palmer's fancy. "It makes shots miserable to hit," he said. "I I owned a golf course with fairways like that, I'd plow them up."

Palmer was in an unexciting tie for 32nd place with the likes of Hsieh Yung-yo of Nationalist China.

"I've never been famous for my short game," he said, "but I didn't hit them badly this time. They looked perfect heading to the green and then bounced out of sight."

As the field began to settle into the second round of the 34th Masters, Palmer's chances of a fifth green jacket were slender at best.

Aaron survived a bogey on the tough 18th hole to take the top spot Thursday. The game's most famous bridesmaid birdied three straight holes—the 12th through 14th—on a hot 33 back nine to stand alone after a day.

"Being from Georgia, I've always wanted to win the Masters," said Aaron, who has not captured a U.S. tour event in nine pro years despite being a regular in the $70,000-$90,000 income bracket. "I play the course well, but we've got a long stretch before Sunday."

Aaron was eighth behind champion George Archer last year and seventh in 1968 and 1967. He was involved in the greatest Masters disaster in 1968, however, when he kept an incorrect scorecard for Roberto de Vicenzo. It cost the big Argentine veteran a first-place tie with Bob Goalby.

Rodriguez was excited over his first Masters shot since 1966 and the colorful Puerto Rican didn't want to leave the press interview area following his fine opening-round 70.

"I don't get here too often, so I want to make the best of it," he said. "I could have shot a 66 out there today, but I choked a little, thinking about it being the Masters."

Rodriguez has a lot of mouths to feed back at Dorado Beach. He claims to support most of his family.

"I have 13 dependents," he said in broken English. "All of them have 140 I.Q. or better, except me. I'm under 100 . . . and I support them all."

Nicklaus said he "played better than my 71 indicates. I like the greens hard because I feel it hurts inexperienced players more than it does me," he said. "Of course, stopping the ball close to the hole is something else."

The field was due to be sliced to the low 44 scores and ties after today's second round. The cutoff has never been lower than four-over par 148 and—according to the first day's results—could soar as high as 151.

State Golfers Going Good in Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — R. H. Sikes of Springdale was tied for fourth place as Masters golf tournament moved into the second round play today.

Sikes had a 2-under-par 70 Thursday with nines of 35-35. Tommy Aaron grabbed the first-round lead with a 68.

Miller Barber of Texarkana had a 76 Thursday and is in danger of missing the 36-hole cut. He had nines of 38-38.

MAKING WAVES is Mike Burton's specialty. The UCLA star was a triple gold medal winner at the March NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships at the University of Utah.

15th Hole at Augusta Has Them Talking

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — As in the case of the weather, everybody at the Masters Golf Tournament is talking about the 15th hole but nobody can do anything about it.

They've dubbed it "Stone Mountain South."

"It looks like they've buried a herd of dinosaurs out there," said Bill Casper. "I think it detracts from the natural contour of the course."

"You don't help a hole by lengthening it—I think it's a mistake," adds Gene Sarazen, whose double eagle on the hole in 1935 is one of the classic shots in the history of the game.

Sarazen would never be able to make a double eagle there now. Nor would almost everybody else in the field, which starts on the second round today in the 34th Masters.

It's been turned into a monster—the controversial monster of the Augusta National course.

Before this year, the 15th was listed as a par five hole measuring 520 yards. Actually, it played at about 480 yards.

To toughen the hole, which was rated a 4½ par, meaning it was a good birdie hole, the Augusta architects lowered and lengthened the tee and planted two large and several small mounts on the right side of the fairway in the normal hitting area.

This has cut the target area for a good drive to a gun-barrel area about 30 yards across. It plays a pure 520 yards or longer—an increase of perhaps 30 yards in length.

A small pond lies in front of the green. There's heavy foliage at the left and a trap at the right.

When Sarazen made his famous double eagle, he drove into the center of the fairway and then hit a three wood—"I hit it pure," he said—which sent the ball to the green and into the cup. He tied for the title and beat Craig Wood in a playoff.

Most golfers in the Masters field insist they cannot now reach the green in two. They play to the left of the fairway, averaging 260 to 280 yards, and hit short of the pond with a four or five-iron. This leaves a small pitch to the green.

Arnold Palmer says the change means a three to four stroke advantage over four rounds for big hitters like himself, Jack Nicklaus and Tom Weiskopf.

Russia Adds Silver Medal to Collection

TAMPERE, Finland (AP) — The Soviet Union added a silver medal to its collection Thursday—and wound up with a runaway victory in the sixth World University winter games.

The Russians, who finished second in the final event, the ice hockey tournament, Thursday wound up with 13 gold medals, 16 silver and 8 bronze for a total of 79 points.

Second was the United States with 5 gold, 5 silver and 1 bronze for 26 points. Czechoslovakia, which beat the Soviet Union in Thursday's hockey, was third with three gold medals for 9 points.

Four of the champions in the last winter games at Innsbruck, Austria, in 1968 successfully defended their titles: speed skaters Erhard Keller of West Germany, on 500-meters, and Russian Alexander Checkulaev, the two longest distance—5,000 and 10,000 meters.

Ohio Hottest Shooting Cage Team

NEW YORK (AP) — The hottest shooting team in major college basketball history has turned out to be the 1970 Ohio State Buckeyes, an also-ran in the Big Ten conference race.

The disclosure was made today by the National Collegiate Sports Services in its team statistics for the recently concluded season.

The Buckeyes, who won 17 and lost seven games, established all-time records in both field goal shooting percentage at .544 and in accuracy from the foul line with an .809 percentage.

The Jacksonville Dolphins, beaten by UCLA for the national championship in the final of the NCAA tourney, was confirmed as the highest scoring major team ever with an average of 100.3 per game.

So were the UCLA Bruins as No. 1 in won-lost percentage at 28-2 in winning their fourth straight national collegiate title.

Ohio State's all-time field goal percentage of .5442 shattered the old mark of .5438 set by Davidson in 1964. The Buckeyes made 831-of-1527 shots to beat out Jacksonville and Iowa, tied for second at .623.

From the foul line the Buckeyes made 452-of-559 tries to smash the previous record of .796 set by Miami of Florida in 1965.

Iowa, the Big Ten Champions, finished second in freethrow percentage at .780.

Chamberlain Leads Lakers Into Playoff

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The huge man who came back, Wilt Chamberlain, prepares to lead the Los Angeles Lakers on an invasion of Atlanta after pacing a fantastic reversal which brought victory over upstart Phoenix in their National Basketball Association playoff.

The Suns fell 129-94 Thursday night in the seventh and deciding game of the opening set after leading the series three games to one.

Chamberlain led the Lakers' three-game winning surge and in the finale the 7-foot-2 star scored 30 points and swept away 27 rebounds.

A pleased Coach Joe Mullaney observed: "I felt he was the major factor in turning the series around."

The Lakers had finished second in the NBA West during the regular season. Phoenix tied for third with Chicago, which lost to Atlanta after a coin flip decided the semifinal matchups.

Only one other team, Boston in 1968 had been down 3-1 and captured a playoff series.

Many didn't believe the 33-year-old Chamberlain would be around for these playoffs. He ruptured a tendon in his right knee on Nov. 7, underwent surgery and didn't return to action until March 18 when only three games remained on the regular schedule.

The Lakers needed time to adjust their game to the big man's presence, a fact which might have accounted somewhat for the solid advantage built by the Suns—that, and the fact the Lakers were cold-shooting.

The Lakers meet the Hawks in Atlanta on Sunday and return to the Forum next Friday and Sunday.

While the Lakers and Hawks await the start of their final Western series, Milwaukee and New York open their best-of-seven set for the Eastern title Saturday in Madison Square Garden.

Los Angeles roared into a quick and permanent lead in the Phoenix finale with Elgin Baylor scoring a dozen first-quarter points.

Captain Baylor wound up with 25 points and 14 rebounds. Jerry West, who usually has paced the scoring attack, tallied 19 while contributing 15 assists. Rookie Dick Garrett hit 20 points for the winner.

John Tresvant, a five-year pro veteran from Seattle, came out of a forgotten man's role to check the Suns' great Connie Hawkins in the last games of the series.

Even though Hawkins scored 25 to lead his club in the seventh game, he wasn't the effective performer had had been early in the set.

Gail Goodrich hit 15 points for the losers and Neal Walk, who came on late in the game, scored 12, all in the final stanza.

Reviewing the playoff victory, Mullaney observed: "we played very well during the season without Wilt but I didn't feel we could go all the way in the playoffs without him."

A Timid Invader

It was "tell it like it is" hour on a late-night radio talk show from a New England city last week. All had been going well; housewives and college students and high school dropouts and everybody else had called to share their particular bits of wisdom. Everything was controlled, no one had lost his temper. It was the nearest thing you could get, in the electronic age, to a New England town meeting.

Then a young man called in and broke the good-natured calm: He had just got his orders to report to a Southern army base for training. It wasn't the training he minded, he said, it was just going South. They wouldn't like his long hair, he lamented (apparently forgetting the Army wouldn't like the way he talked.

The announcer was a little more philosophical, but he agreed: He too had heard that the South was an odious place, a strange and forboding place to be avoided at all costs. Assuming for the moment a smug Brahmin stance, he spoke of what he had heared about the South.

The conservation continued, and went something like this, the young man speaking rather fast and excitedly, the announcer in measured, controlled tones:

Young man: "You ever been down there?"

Announcer: "A few years ago. Certain parts of it are all right."

Young Man: "You're putting me on!"

Announcer: "Only parts. (Pause) You see Easy Rider?"

Young man: "They really do those things?"

The announcer agreed that, yes indeed, he had heard they really did those things, though not so often as they used to. "Men lead lives of quiet desperation," he mused, then added, "they're all up tight."

And thus, having combined the wisdom of two centuries, he put the South into proper perspective for all New Englanders who don't go to the movies.—Winston-Salem (N.C.)

Clouded Crystal

Perhaps it's worth noting that people in the advertising business seem to have as much trouble with the future's clouded crystal ball as do economics. On one page of Advertising Age, a trade magazine, T.V. Byor (pen name of an advertising executive), looking into the future of television advertising, says: "The 60-second commercial length will disappear. The 30-second will become standard . . ."during the 1970s.

On another page Stephen Baker, an advertising agency art director, predicts: "There will be fewer 30-second commercials . . .Creative people have problems making half-minute spots count."

TV viewers have problems, too. More often than not when a commercial appears they are tempted to cry, with Lady Macbeth: "Out, damned spot! Out, I say!"—Charleston (S.C.) news and Courier

Decision Hanging on Moon Flight

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Three astronauts, including a last-minute rookie substitute on whom everything depends, lean today—scant 24 hours before blastoff—whether they and Apollo 13 will leave for the moon Saturday.

The scheduled 2:13 p.m. EST launch was left a cliff-hanger pending a decision on whether John L. Swigert Jr., the stopgap replacement can mesh talent and personality with prime crew members James A. Lovell Jr. and Fred W. Haise Jr.

If not, the flight of Apollo 13 will be postponed until May 9 at a cost of $800,000.

The decision was to be made by NASA Administrator Thomas O. Paine this afternoon after evaluating Swigert's performance in a four-hour rehearsal session today.

Thomas K. Mattingly II, who had the misfortune not to be immune to the German measles to which he was exposed, was all but ruled out of the mission Thursday. Physicians figured they'd be taking too much of a chance sending him on the 10-day flight.

While Swigert worked out in simulators with his new crewmates, the sleek, 363-foot high Saturn 5 rocket was being readied as if no uncertainties existed about its human cargo.

The preparations were on schedule. The weather was forecast to be scattered clouds, no rain.

Group Considering a Limit to Doctor Fee in Health Programs

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways Means Committee is considering a proposal to control the soaring costs of government health programs by limiting doctor's fees to those charged by most physicians—not the highest-priced ones.

The limitation proposal described as the "75th doctor plan," is reported to be gaining favor at closed-door meetings of the committee, although no votes have been taken.

Fees charged by doctors in a community for comparable services would be tabulated and the limit set at the highest level charged by any doctor in the lower 75 per cent.

There is no fixed ceiling now on payments to doctors under medicare, the Social Security program of health care for persons 65 or older, or medicaid, a similar plan for low-income persons.

The committee also is trying to work out a system for fixing hospital charges in advance.

If the medicare and medicaid problems—the only ones considered so far in several weeks of work on the Social Security bill —can be solved, the committee is expected to meet its goal of sending a bill to the House by the end of this month.

Proposed revisions in the main Social Security law, believed to be relatively non-controversial, include higher payments to widows of retired workers and adjustment of some provisions that now favor women over men retirees.

He Use to Envy the Jet Set But Not After This Miserable Flight

By WARD SIMS
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — I used to envy the jet set, but not any more.

An air traffic controllers' slowdown and a bit of nasty weather which disrupted the beginnings of a beautiful spring are to blame for my disenchantment.

It all started in Seattle and wound up, some 17 hours later, in New Brunswick, N.J.

Wife Virginia, son Dixon and I were ticketed from Seattle to Newark, N.J., with a change of planes at Chicago.

Early on the morning of departure, before the coffee had even started to perk, the airline called and said the New York flight had been canceled. Would I care to take an earlier direct flight to Philadelphia?

It took some fast packing, but we made it, flying east through the friendly skies of Canada by way of Kimberly, Lethbridge, Moose Jaw, Regina and Winnipeg. Then it was south to Philadelphia and the landing approach.

I thought we flew through the clouds for an interminably long time and the captain confirmed my suspicions by advising via the intercom that Philadelphia International was glazed with ice from freezing rain and that he would not attempt to make an immediate landing.

We proceeded to take a half-hour tour through low-hanging clouds, with only momentary glimpses of a snow-covered countryside from time to time.

On came the captain again. It would take at least another hour, he said, to sand the runway, so we were heading for Dulles International Airport. On to Washington.

At Dulles, we were hustled aboard a bus en route to Washington's Penn Station, then put on a train for New York, courtesy of the apologetic and harried

U.S. Camp Hit, Damage Very Heavy

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese sappers blasted into an American Special Forces camp 10 miles south of the demilitarized zone early today and inflicted heavy casualties and damage. U.S. tanks and planes were rushed in to save the Mai Loc camp from being overrun.

Associated Press correspondent Michael Putzel reported from the camp that six Americans and 21 of their force of Bru Montagnards were killed, 26 of the mountain tribesmen were missing, and 12 Americans and eight Montagnards were wounded.

The bodies of 15 sappers were found inside the camp's perimeter, and at least 14 more were found outside, apparently cut down by the 18,00-round-a-minute.

Putzell said nearly 100 sapper-commandos drove into the rectangular camp from several points shortly after midnight while a 100-round mortar barrage pinned down the garrison of 250 hired Montagnards and a score of American Green Beret advisers, engineers and gunners.

Hurling dynamite bombs and firing rocket grenades, the North Vietnamese in the first few minutes knocked out the main generator, cutting off the camp's radio, and destroyed two 40mm guns manned by an American.

The American quickly set up a field radio and called for reinforcements.

Capt. Steve Hopkins, 25, Calif. the camp's Green Beret leader, and the South Vietnamese camp commander were out in the mountains with a company on an operation. They could see the attack from a mountaintop, and

Jobless Rate Continues to Rise Sharply

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate continued rising last month to the highest levels in nearly five years, climbing from 4.2 to 4.4 per cent of the civilian labor force, the government said today.

The actual number of jobless persons declined 61,000 but unemployment generally falls even more sharply in March. The Labor Department therefore figured this as a rise of 230,000 on a seasonal basis to a total of 3.7 million unemployed.

The report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics marked the third straight monthly increase in unemployment under President Nixon's anti-inflation policies.

The number of unemployed has risen one million since March 1969, when the jobless figures dropped almost to the post-Korean war low.

The bureau also reported that average hourly earnings of some 45 million rank-and-file workers rose one cent in March to $3.16. Average weekly earnings were up 68 cents to $117.55, representing an increase of $5.88 or 5.3 per cent over the year.

However, after adjustment for the past year's rise in living costs - the sharpest in 20 years - real earnings were slightly below those of a year ago, the bureau said.

The March report said the rise in unemployment was concentrated among adults seeking full-time jobs.

The nation's total employment rose 468,000 to 77,957,000 but the bureau said the increase was almost entirely among part-time workers.

Reaction by Fulbright Is Calm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., reacted calmly Thursday to an attack on him by Martha Mitchell, wife of U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell.

Mrs. Mitchell was quoted by the Arkansas Gazette as saying it was a "damn shame" that Fulbright voted against confirmation of Supreme Court nominee G. Harrold Carswell.

The article said Mrs. Mitchell urged the Gazette to "crucify" Fulbright for voting against Carswell. Mrs. Mitchell is a native of Arkansas.

The Evening Star in Washington said Mrs. Mitchell later denied asking the Gazette to "crucify" Fulbright.

The Star quoted Mrs. Mitchell as saying in an interview that the Gazette had called her first, and that the actual time was about 10 p.m. Wednesday night, not 2 o'clock the next morning.

In Washington, Fulbright said he was not taking the attack too seriously and that Mrs. Mitchell's language probably was more flamboyant than she intended.

"I don't think she really meant that," Fulbright said, "It was just a manner of speech."

"I regret her rather flamboyant language," Fulbright said. "She is a little unrestrained in the way she expresses herself. I'm sure the attorney general had nothing to do with this."

Forced to Bypass the South Charge by Nixon Irks Some Senators

Impeachment of Douglas Considered

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A final decision by a group of House members on an attempt to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas probably will be made next week. The decision likely will be to proceed.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford met Thursday with House members anxious to initiate an impeachment proceeding and found himself faced with strong sentiment to take action immediately, sources said.

Senate rejection the previous day of President Nixon's court nominee, G. Harrold Carswell, "opened the flood gates," the source said. "There was a considerable amount of sentiment that Mr. Douglas ought not to remain on the court, that if Carswell wasn't satisfactory, Douglas isn't either.

"Gerry is trying to find a course of action that wouldn't be too one-sided or too political. He is trying to let everybody

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk—already saying he'll ignore a federal judge's appearance order—was told today to send his aides, a sheriff and five deputies to court in Tampa to explain why they shouldn't be held in contempt for thwarting a desegregation plan.

Thursday, U.S. Atty. John Briggs said he was told his men would be fired on if they tried to jail anyone.

"I was told by the governor's office that if the marshals try to enter the area and arrest anyone, they will be fired on," Briggs said at a news confer-

Integrity Is Assaulted, Claims Gore

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A resolution charging that President Nixon's claim of geographic prejudice in the Senate's rejection of G. Harrold Carswell to be a Supreme Court justice is "an assault on the integrity of the Senate" was introduced today.

The resolution was introduced by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

Gore, one of a handful of Deep South senators who opposed Carswell's nomination, noted that Nixon said Thursday the opposition to the Carswell nomination was "vicious" and "malicious."

Gore thus fired back at Nixon in an escalating political fight stemming from the Senate's 51-45 rejection Wednesday of Carswell's nomination.

Nixon's assertion that the Senate has forced him to bypass the South touched off a new round of political controversy.

"I have reluctantly concluded," the President said Thursday, "that it is not possible to get confirmation of a judge on the Supreme Court of any man who believes in the strict construction of the Constitution as I do, if he happens to come from the South."

"This is the most damning evidence of a Southern strategy we've had since the term was first put in print," protested Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a leader in the fight against two.
